When are school bus drivers, school districts, and/or transportation supervisors responsible for their actions or the actions of their agents? Answers to this question will be explored in a presentation of liability and tort law. Terminology will be identified and defined. Laws most directly related to pupil transportation liability and tort issues will be reviewed. Application of those laws in a pupil transportation environment will be discussed. Michigan Court of Appeals decisions regarding specific pupil transportation liability situations will be presented and discussed. Supervisors will take away from this session information and strategies to minimize their districts, staff's and their own liability responsibility.

Instructor: Mac Dashney, PTOMI
